

Country Web Sites

Air Products is a global company, with over 19,000 employees spanning over 30 countries. Business divisions outside of the United States generate about half of our worldwide yearly sales. We consider this international perspective to be an asset, and we are proud of the diverse set of employees and markets we serve. It's with this in mind that Air Products has created 29 language-specific Country Websites—online gateways to the regional services and products we offer.

What are Country Websites?

Our 29 Country Websites are innovative tools we use to communicate with our customers, regardless of where they are in the world. Each site is a valuable reference center containing specific information about the products and services we provide in regional markets. Together, they represent countries spanning 5 continents and use 20 languages to convey information. All of our Country Websites illustrate the Air Products brand and help to generate new business leads by establishing a strong, visual presence in targeted markets.

How can they help me?

Consider our Country Websites to be ways in which we open a dialogue with the world. Each site conveniently provides information about product launches, company news, key contact information, career opportunities, and access to a variety of useful self-service applications. And don't forget about the Air Products Direct (APDirect®) Customer Portal, which is available to a growing number of our international customers.

Where can I find them?
